

FINAL COLLECTION OF WORKS

Follow the melodic sounds of their laughter and find a magical toy store with a secret. Please come in the odd & peculiar residents of this store welcome you to discover the truth behind this cute obsessed story.

After a life in the human world and being let down by the health care system that had sworn to protect her, Jessiebessie Bear created a cuddly medicine of her own device.

A toy store filled with toyish creatures with a symptom sewn into their hearts. Purchase them, take them home, care for them, share within their lives to understand the disturbance mental illness brings one's universe.

This project was created with my own story as an underlying narrative, I hope it serves to gather other survivors and give them the strength to share their own.
